 - If you don't have a particular prop or object feel free to use something different.
2. Tell the story.
 - Read the story in an exciting way, focusing on your learner and allowing moments to pause, listening for when they can communicate and interact with you.

What is a sensory story?

How to tell a sensory story

- First, read through the story yourself
- Tell your learner that you are going to read a story
- Can you create a before and after experience to give the story context?
- Begin the story with the theme song
- Read each sentence clearly following the script on the slides
- Follow your learners lead - see previous slide
- Let your learner explore the props for as long as they need
- Emphasise each new sentence (using your voice or an instrument)- imagine this is the equivalent of turning a page in a book
- At the end of the story repeat the theme song to end

Promoting Communication

Here are some ideas to consider when developing your learner's communication

Communication and turn taking

- Prepare these drawn symbols below before you start the story.
 - These are made with sticky notes but you can use any paper / print these / use actual symbols, or your child's communication devices.
 - The symbols can look different to these, as long as they are consistently used to request that same activity. e.g. If they point to or give you the balloon symbol, do the balloon activity, not the 'worms' activity.
- Offer the symbols to someone else or yourself, after your learner has had a turn enjoying one of the activities, to encourage turn taking.

Song lyrics

'Shake Shake Shake'

Shake shake shake,
Shake, shake, shake,
Shake the foam,
Shake the foam!

'Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star'

Twinkle, twinkle, little star
How I wonder what you are
Up above the world so high
Like a diamond in the sky
Twinkle, twinkle little star
How I wonder what you are

Independent Living

Wiggly Worm goes to space!

Make it easier

Sensory box:

Use a shoe box, put in lights, different textures, different scented oils, to create a little sensory world.

Balloon vibrations:

Play music from your phone or speaker touching a balloon, place this near your child's ear or on their skin, to feel interesting vibrations or the distortion of the sound.

Make it harder

Initiate turn-taking:

Can your child offer the activity to another family member after their turn has finished, without you needing to prompt this in any way?

Change the story:

Using any of the games, can your child change the story, or describe what's happening?

More ideas

Different sensory story den:

Use lights or a lamp, or phone light, or torch, with a bed sheet over the back of a chair or table, to make a den with different pictures, smells, textures relating to a different story.

Relaxing massage:

Thinking about well-being, make a little sticky note & make a 'massage' symbol. See if your child requests a massage, use baby oil or another safe oil.
